The subjects for this study in learning were students at the Duff Business School in Pittsburgh. I wish to acknowledge the interest and cooperation of Messrs. Spangler and Johnson and of Miss Wilson for making the necessary rearrangements at the Duff School for this investigation. I wish to acknowledge also the advice and interest of Dean J. R. Angell under whose direction this study has been carried out and the many favors of Professor W. V. Bingham without which the work could not have been completed. I am also thankful to Professor Dorweiler of the Carnegie Institute of Technology for his kind advice on some of the mathematical portions of the study.
