Blessed Pope John Paul II, The Diary of Saint Faustina and The End Times Susan Crimp

As Pope John Paul is declared a Saint by the Vatican this book looks at the late Pontiff's devotion to Saint Faustina and the messages she received about the end times. Blessed John Paul was so convinced about the authenticity of these messages he not only made Faustina the first Saint of this Millennium but he also went to his final resting place with his last homily on this very subject buried with him in his casket. Here in this eye opening book the pieces of this mystical puzzle have been placed together. Whether you believe or not, or wherever you are in your own journey of faith, the facts presented here make this story a must read for all those who might wonder where our world is heading.

This book is written to honor the memory of Pope John Paul II and Saint Faustina Kowalska, in gratitude for the tremendous legacy they have left us all. We also remember sister Leonella Agorbati, and Dr. Homa Darabi, whose untimely deaths remind us how fragile life under tyranny can be. We also recall with joyful thanks all the Holy men and women who have touched our individual lives, along with the lives of countless others they serve across the world. In reading this book may we realize just as Pope John Paul II taught us, the value of every human being, and learn to love and live together in peace and harmony.
